Dear Karla,

Congratulations on an outstanding presentation entitled "Personality Paradigms." Everyone thoroughly enjoyed and benefited from this seminar. Your presentation certainly generated a vast amount of audience participation. One of our members said, "The attendees gained tremendous insights into their own personalities, and came away with information to build a solid foundation for effective team building." I received numerous compliments from the membership.

I appreciate the time and effort you obviously put into the presentation. It was well organized and professionally presented in an interesting and energetic manner.

Thank you for providing us information on team personalities of the 21st Century. This information will certainly help us to work more harmoniously with our team members. We can appreciate different types of personalities, and recognize that all personalities are important and play a valuable role in the workplace and home. The "Sample People Skills Personality Inventory" was an excellent exercise. It gave us an opportunity to examine our selves and respect all personalities.

I enjoyed working with you to organize this event. Your program was professional in every way, but touched us on a personal level as well. I wish you continued success in all your endeavors. In the future, please feel free to list me as a reference.

Sincerely,

Mary R. Burke
